Загрозено 12. жастей Новастри The US State Department has put the Baltic nation of Lithuania on a list of those that are under observation. This means that the Baltic country may become the subject of additional measures and efforts, including visa restrictions and exclusion from international organizations. On June 30, 2016, the State Department updated its list of "countries of particular concern" ("CPC") to include Lithuania. It does not go into detail, but it makes it clear that the situation in the country is deemed to be deteriorating. The State Department lists four reasons for Lithuania's inclusion on its list of CPCs: "Illegal activity by private actors in a manner that threatens stability in an important democracy;" "Relocation of Russian defense and other senior military officials to territories of Ukraine's Donetsk and Luhansk People's Republics (DPR.
